REFERENCE : Memorandum From General Counsel to Chief, Audit Staff, dated 5 April 1956, Subject: Insurance on Agency-Owned Vehicles

1. It is recommended that paragraph 1.c.(3) of subject regulations, defining quasi-personal vehicles, be modified to read "titled or registered in such a manner as to conceal Government ownership." The underlined "or" would replace "and" in the present regulations.

2. As discussed in reference memorandum, a copy of which is attached, there are instances where vehicles are registered in the name of a private individual although the title remains in the Government. In addition, there are some states which do not issue titles on motor vehicles and in which the registration certificate is the only documentation required or issued.

3. The real purport of the term "quasi-personal" is that actual ownership remains in the Government while all the indicia of ownership are vested in a private person. It is believed that the suggested language effectuates this concept in a manner more nearly in accordance with the existing factual situation than does the language presently in use.
